

Department Colloquium

Speaker: Troy Day, Queen's University

Date: Friday, September 16

Time: 2:30 p.m.

Place: Jeffery 234

Title: Some mathematical contributions to the problem of drug resistance

Abstract: In this talk I will present an overview of some recent research that uses relatively simple mathematical analyses to help address the problem of the evolution of drug resistance in infectious diseases.